

Modern buildings face security risks, a lack of visitor data, and challenges in personalized marketing — all of which limit their ability to analyze and predict customer behavior.

Security risks in modern buildings

It's difficult to personalize marketing

Lack of information about human traffic
flow

Limited capabilities for analysis and forecasting